Laurent-Perrier

Founded in 1812 by André-Michel Pierlot and later entrusted to his cellar master Eugène Laurent, Laurent-Perrier remains a family-owned, independent house that continues to lead with innovation in Champagne.

One of its most notable milestones was introducing ""Grand Vin Sans Sucre"" to the British Isles, the first sugar-free champagne of its kind. The house style has stayed consistent throughout: freshness, elegance, and purity. Its ""Cuvée Rosé Brut"" went on to draw significant attention to the rosé category as a whole.

Today, Laurent-Perrier stands as both one of Champagne's oldest houses and one of its most forward-thinking.

Featured Brewery of the Month

Toyokuni Brewery – “IBUKI” (Fukushima prefecture)

Toyokuni sake brewery is family owned and currently head by 9th generation owner-brewer Mr. Kensei Yanai.

While Mr Kensei Yanai was born into a brewer family, he used to study in Tokyo and intended to work there in a different field. However, he eventually decided to takeover the family property and start off as the head Toji (sake-brewer) in 2010.

“Ibuki” is his brainchild, a series of sake created in a different pace, was immediately became a hit with its modern flavours. The name, written as 一歩己 in kanji, has the meaning of “one step at a time, for oneself”, served as the first step of his sake brewing journey.

Ibuki brand house style is the embodiment of both traditional and modern, very well balanced between sweetness and bitterness, just like the name suggests, the delicious flavor increases with each step.
